

BOSS BLACK
WOOL POLONECK,
£149

H&M WOOL
POLONECK, £30

RALPH LAUREN
BLACK LABEL
MERINO-WOOL
POLONECK, £275

AKRIS
CASHMERE/SILK
TURTLENECK, £595

VELVET
COTTON
ROLLNECK, £87

ON A ROLL

The way to wear a poloneck now is under a crisp white shirt.

New name 2: ROSIE SUGDEN

"I work with bright yarns that others shy away from," says 24-year-old Rosie Sugden of her eponymous cashmere line, which features fluorescent pink beanies and neon orange scarves (in addition to ivory and dove grey for the less brave). The Scottish designer's collection takes inspiration from artists Denis Bowen and Cy Twombly, but its heart is in the Highlands. "My father worked in textiles; I remember him taking me around the factory. I loved seeing the raw fibre going through the processes and coming out as a beautiful jumper." Sugden uses fibre from Mongolian goats, which is transported to Scotland and dyed and spun in a 200-year-old mill. At Matches and Liberty. Ellen Burney

3.1 PHILLIP LIM

COMPTOIR DES COTONNIERS
ANGORA V-NECK, £170

CK CALVIN KLEIN
WOOL SWEATER,
£179

RALPH LAUREN
BLACK LABEL
SILK-JERSEY TOP,
£340

TRIP THE LIGHT FANTASTIC

This season, Australian designer Dion Lee employed high-visibility yarn similar to that used in sports- and safety wear to add a dazzling spin to his line-up of sheer sweaters, which form part of his autumn collection. The radiant bioluminescent quality of these yarns in hues of mauve and silver neatly double up as the chicest choice for the post-party cycle home. What more could you want from a sweater? Julia Hobbs

KNITS TO LAYER

From gauzy vests to lightweight sweaters and cosy long-line cardigans, choose tonal tissue-thin separates and make it a layered affair.

HELMUT LANG
WOOL-MIX
SWEATER, £260

MISSONI
WOOL
ROLLNECK, £465

THRIFT SEEKERS

Super-soft and super-affordable – presenting five of the best cashmere pieces from the high street.

BANANA REPUBLIC
CASHMERE
CARDIGAN, £150

UNIQLO
CASHMERE
SWEATER, £80

AUTOGRAPH
CASHMERE
HOODIE, £129, AT
MARKS & SPENCER

GAP
CASHMERE
T-SHIRT, £70

BENETTON
CASHMERE
SWEATER, £245